Setting

The fiscal period has just started, and Wall Street, New York City is bustling with new investors. In such a cutthroat environment, every investor must use any resource available to them to earn as much money as possible before the fiscal period ends. The success of any investor who comes out on top will propel them to even greater heights and leave their competitors struggling. As one of those new investors, you must tamper with the other competitor's investments using whatever special actions you have at the time. You must also invest your money into buildings to generate more and more revenue. With a little luck on your side, maybe you will come out the richest investor in the world...

Objective

Have the most amount of money in your hand when the money deck runs out!

How it Works

Draw money and action cards, then choose how to invest in buildings and/or play action cards. Money is the game's currency and buildings and action cards both help to increase your final total.

Once the final money card in the deck has been drawn, the game ends. Every player totals the money in their hand and adds a bonus for each of their owned buildings. The player with the highest total wins!

Setup

Contents

- 210 Money Cards
- 200 Action Cards
- 5 Building Cards (x20 each)
- 6 Calculators

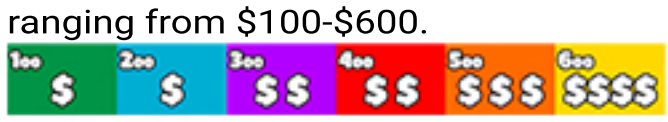
Place the deck of money cards and the deck of action decks next to each other in the center of the table. Shuffle both decks. Place all 5 building decks in a row under the money and action cards. Then, every player draws 5 money cards. Make sure to set aside space for 2 discard piles, one for money cards and one for action cards.

Player Turn

Turns proceed in counter-clockwise order, starting with the youngest player. Each player completes all the phases of their turn, then play continues to the next player.

Draw Phase

1 Draw 2 money cards from the top of the deck. Money is measured in the millions and the deck contains cards ranging from $100-$600.



2 Draw 1 action card from the top of the deck. Action cards allow you to draw more money, inhibit other players, and can even give bonuses on your turn.

Business Phase

Choose one of the following actions to perform first. After completing that action, you can perform the other, no going back and forth.

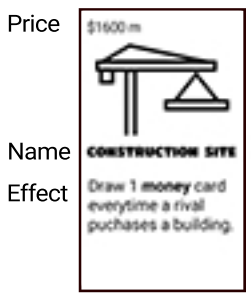
A

Play Action Cards

Place each card face up on top of the discard pile and follow the instructions on the card. You may play up to 5 action cards in a turn.

B

Purchase Buildings



Discard money equal to (or greater than) the price on the card. Buildings take effect after the turn they are bought in. You can buy as many buildings as you want in a turn.

Instant Action Cards

Instant Action Cards, denoted by the red title, are action cards whose effects immidiately activate on your turn. Instant cards that are drawn outside of your turn must be played before the draw phase on your next turn.
Note: Instant cards do not force you into part A of your business phase.

Ending

As soon as the deck of money cards runs out, the game is over. Players lay out their hands fae up on the table in front of them and add up all of their money from their hand.

For every building a player owns, they add $200 million to their total. The player with the highest total wins!

Notes

Buildings of a similar type can be stacked on top of another. Action cards that affect a player's buildings can be placed above that player's building.

Certain buildings will let you draw cards outside of your turn. When multiple people need to draw cards, go counter-clockwise order, starting with the current player.

In Tabletop Simulator you can draw multiple cards easily by hovering your mouse over a deck and typing the number of cards you want to draw.
